St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 3.—A copy has been received here of a letter sent by Secretary Aylesworth of the Dawes commission to Bishop Walker of New York, in which he asks that judgment on the commission be deferred and severely criticizes those who have participated in the charges made against the commission. He charges that the newspapers have deliberately sought to wreck honest names and great public interests.

Bishop is Quoted.
The letter of Secretary Aylesworth includes a newspaper clipping containing the bishop's remarks, which are thus referred to: "The attached clipping is from the Kansas City Journal of Tuesday, Sept. 25. As you will observe, you are quoted as having stated among other things, 'these frauds in the Indian Territory are paralleled in New York state,' etc., and with reference to the late Senator Dawes that 'he was an honest, upright and just man. If he had lived these terrible wrongs would never have been possible. It is unfortunate that his name should be connected with the men who have committed them.'"

Says It Is Libel.
"For the past month," the letter continues, "the press of the entire country has been filled with the most sensational charges against the members of the Dawes commission. By a strange dispensation of fate a newspaper of Kansas City was destined to lead a whole nation into error and irretrievably injure the character of innocent men who have served the government with a fidelity seldom excelled. A part of the responsibility for this irreparable wrong rests with S. M. Brosius, the agent of the Indian Rights association."

Flays Newspapers.
"That newspapers should wantonly make wreckage of the reputation of men and endanger public interests of great magnitude is not surprising, for by such a course a great pecuniary advantage is to be gained through an increased circulation, even if they are not bribed by corrupting influences seeking the accomplishment of a base end."

"What strange dispensation of fate has led to the persecution? That you knew that Mr. Bonaparte had not yet made his investigation seems most probable and that you had no official reliable information whatever upon which to base your statements seems also apparent."

Praises Commissioner.
"I give you my most solemn assurance that upon this commission are men whose characters are no less lofty than that of the late Senator Dawes, with whom a wrong against those whose interests they had been entrusted to serve is impossible, and who, in the discharge of duties enjoined upon them by law, have been eminently more successful than was Senator Dawes. I say this with an intimate knowledge of what I am speaking about. I say it with due reverence for the memory of the dead, but with a conviction that a duty is due to the living as well."

MINE OWNERS IGNORE
CHILD LABOR STATUTE

Boys Between the Ages of 11 and 16
Years Are Allowed to Work in Violation of the Law.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)
Springfield, Ill., Oct. 3.—Illinois mine owners will bring cases in the state courts to test the constitutionality of the child labor law. In many mines boys between the ages of 11 and 16 are allowed to work, in direct violation of the law, it is alleged. When a boy is injured, however, the statute is pleaded in abatement of a damage suit.

But few of the coal operators have complied with the law, which went into effect July 1, compelling them to erect wash houses for their employees, and, in consequence, trouble may result.

The miners of the Springfield sub-district have passed a resolution calling upon the operators to build the houses, and it is possible that the men will refuse to work Oct. 1 if their request is not complied with.

ALLEGES EMBEZZLEMENT
OF $50,000 BY WOMAN

Playing Card Company Charges That Private Secretary at New York Took That Amount.

New York, Oct. 3.—Mrs. Marie L. Johnston, wife of Dr. Albert N. Johnston, a dentist with offices at 463 Fifth avenue has been arrested on a charge of grand larceny. The United States Playing Card Company of Cincinnati, whose New York agent had employed Mrs. Johnston as bookkeeper and private secretary for six years, alleges that she has embezzled nearly $50,000. The company's New York office is at 685 Broadway.

Secretary McCutcheon says that he had absolute confidence in the woman, who kept all accounts and drew the checks, until last April, when it was discovered that she had appropriated money for her own use.

He says that Mrs. Johnston was accused of the thefts, and confessed to having taken $10,000, for which she promised to make restitution through her husband, whose practice, she said, netted $10,000 a year. On this promise she was not prosecuted, but was discharged from the company's employ. She has never paid back any of this, say the officers of the company.

The Cincinnati office, in the meantime found that its accounts with its banks did not tally, and sent Auditor Jameson here to go over the books kept by Mrs. Johnston. He concluded a preliminary investigation and found, he says, that more than $10,000 was missing from the New York account and more than $23,000 from the account of the Cincinnati office. This was done, the auditor says, by juggling the two accounts. According to McCutcheon, Mrs. Johnston admitted in April that she had falsified the records.

Hint Proof.
"You must not imagine," she said, "that I would be willing to sit here alone with you if you were not so big and strong, and able to pick me up in your arms as if I were a mere child—in case anything happened." Then because nothing happened she told her friends that he was dull-witted and probably had a soul like a withered lemon.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Owing to the shortage in the Canadian and American catches on the Grand banks agents of the large dealers in codfish in Nova Scotia and Massachusetts are seeking to purchase 100,000 quintals of codfish at St. John's for disposal in their markets. The local supply is also short. Cod liver oil, which last year sold for 70 cents a gallon, now brings $3.

Big Cooker in Corn Distilling Plant Blows Up and Seven Men Killed and Twenty
Were Badly Injured—Bodies Were Thrown Fifty Feet by the Force of the Explosion.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 3.—Seven men were instantly killed and twenty others injured by an explosion of the cooker in the plant of the Cornish Distilling company this morning. The cooker, a large copper boiler in which the mash is cooked, is vacuum. This morning the pressure was evidently too great for the cooker exploded and was blown clear out of the cooking room, through the mill-room and into a field two hundred and fifty feet away. Seven men were killed and others frightfully scalded. The damage to the building is not less than a hundred thousand dollars. There are three buildings of the plant, each five stories high which were blown to pieces. The dead are: James Mc-

Manus, cookerman; Chas. Powell, Geo. Shafer, James O'Keefe, Geo. C. George, Guy Brenham, John Wilson, and U. S. Storeker. Bodies of Brenham and Wilson are still in the ruins and it will be several days before they can be recovered. A partial list of the injured is James Welsh, Daniel Cashen, Chas. Lane, unknown man. Several of the injured will die.

Bargains in Eyelashes.
In a hair store on Broadway a novelty is being sold in the shape of long, luxuriant eyelashes, which can be added in two minutes and will wear for one month. They cost $3 a pair.

A pair of eyebrows can also be had costing $6, and it is said they will only need renewing twice a year. The demand is not brisk as yet.—New York Press.

Sewage Disposal.
The new method for sewage disposal by bacterial treatment in a septic tank is not altogether free from danger. In this process the sewage is stored in closed tanks for a variable period, during which time it is acted upon and dissolved by the agency of the bacteria present. Probably marsh gas and other gases are generated, which become explosive when mixed with oxygen and fired.

Union Pacific's Water Famine.
The Union Pacific railway has lately had a train built which is the first of its kind in the world. It will be used to convey water to the various water stations in the West, where the local supply is strongly impregnated with alkali, which is very bad for the boilers. The cars are of pressed steel, covered with planks and fitted with the necessary valves. The experiment has been very successful.

State of Prosperity and Merchants
Generally Are Doing Well.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)
New York, Oct. 3.—Dun's Review, issued by R. G. Dun & Co., the mercantile agency, says:

"Aside from a few strikes confined to minor interests, the industrial situation exhibits a gratifying activity, the manufacturing and distributing lines being fully employed and new business coming forward freely. Demand remains strong for finished products of the steel mills, and there is heavy buying of wire and hardware. Structural materials are in easier supply, but current buying is good, and there is much heavy work appearing for bridge building and railroad extensions. Foundrymen have all the business they can handle, and are large consumers of pig iron, the lowered cost of the latter material placing them in a position to undertake large contracts for future completion."

Export Trade Is Good.
"Implement makers find the export trade steadily advancing, and domestic requirements continue excellent, the capacity of work being taxed for the ensuing winter months. Heavy machinery and electrical lines are well supplied with a wide variety of demands at good prices, and are now shipping liberally for domestic and foreign use. Producers of heavy and shelf hardware are in some respects yet behind on old contracts. Distributors complain that adequate supplies are not easily obtained, and report buying for the interior and farm needs prolonged more than usual, and while forwarding is somewhat easier, the volume of current shipments reaches a high aggregate."

Demand for Lumber.
"The lumber movement indicates some improvement in receipts, but not to the extent desirable. Dealers find sales to be best in hard woods and to the railroads. Both local and country buying maintained good volume and prices are quoted firm. Railroad traffic is of enormous proportions in general freight and passenger carrying, and there is increased activity in iron ore, forest products and grain on the lakes."

American Goods Find Favor.
According to a German contemporary, American-made lawn tennis, golf and cricket shoes have made their appearance on the German market, and their imports, it is said, are steadily increasing.

BOYS COMMIT MURDER
AFTER ASSAULTING GIRL

Youth Cuts Throat of 12-Year-Old Miss Because She Threatened to Expose Him.

Perry, Ok., Oct. 3.—Near Day, fourteen miles southeast of Perry, Mary Williams, 12 years old, was assaulted by two farmer boys, Isaac Rogers and Mike Maloy, 17 and 14 years old respectively, who then chased the girl half a mile and killed her by cutting her throat with a pocket knife. The boys then returned home and washed the blood off their hands and made no effort to get away.

Sheriff McGeehee of Noble and deputies arrested young Rogers and brought him to Perry. On the way he confessed to the murder, stating that Maloy had assaulted the girl and that after she had started home they followed her and when she declared she would report them Rogers caught her and cut her throat from ear to ear. They then walked home, attempted to wash the blood off their clothes and hands at a watering trough and put on clean clothes.

The left shoe of Rogers had been sewed with balling wire in two places and had heavy hobnails in the bottom. This corresponded with tracks found near the girl's body.

The girl had been sent on an errand to the house of a neighbor a mile away and cut across the fields through the timber, near where the two boys were hunting. The father, becoming uneasy at his daughter's delay, started across to meet the child and came upon the body about an hour after the murder was committed.

Beneficent Protection.
The government has decided that the importer of an elephant must pay $750 duty on the animal and the big pachyderm has been left on the government's hands. However, we think the government is right in seeking to protect the infant elephant industry of the United States from the pauper elephants of Asia and Africa.

Jesuits and Franciscans.
Last week we were able to quote the latest official statistics of the Society of Jesus, showing a grand total of 15,231 members. Here are those of the Franciscan orders, as presented to the recent general chapter in Rome. The grand total of members is 16,432, including 7,672 priests and 3,304 students. The number of provinces is 76 and of houses 1,274.—The Tablet.

The Test of Death.
Undertakers test bodies to see if life is extinct by raising a blister with a match. If the blister is dry the body is dead; if it fills with water life is not yet extinct. If the cut made for the embalming syringe bleeds the body is alive. The only absolutely certain sign, however, is beginning decomposition.

STATE NOTES

Miss Mary Keefe, aged 20 years, of Racine, has entered a convent at Clannamoon, Ia., to become a nun. She will be known as Sister Mary.

Olaf Olson, who was found guilty at La Crosse of taking improper liberties with a 5 year old girl, has been sentenced to state prison for one year.

The Racine Business college has failed after a successful career of eight years, and Brown & May of Milwaukee, who have a mortgage taken by C. D. Potter of Green Bay, have shipped the furniture to Milwaukee.

A committee of the Racine city council has signed a report for the adoption of an ordinance regulating the storing of oil and explosives in that city, and which would prevent the Standard Oil company from storing oil in a $10,000 building it is now constructing.

Work has begun on an independent telephone line between Racine and Kenosha, under the management of the Telephone and Construction company of Winthrop Harbor. The new line will extend from Kenosha west to Harvard, Ill., touching all the smaller cities and villages. It is the ultimate plan of the company to build a toll line extending all the way from Milwaukee to Chicago.

Milton H. Shirley, of Fond du Lac, was married to Mrs. Minnie Shirley, widow of his deceased brother, Edwin.

Because she thought her fiancé, William Smazel, would not wed her 19 year old Annie Pohs, of Manitowish, tried to commit suicide by drinking the contents of a vial of carbolic acid. She was taken to the Holy Cross family hospital, where doctors restored her consciousness.

At 6 o'clock last evening she was wedded to William Smazel at her bedside in the hospital. Her recovery is doubtful.

Mrs. H. E. Hoffman, of North Fond du Lac, says she had a premonition of the accident on the Wisconsin Central railroad in Chicago, in which her husband was engineer on the train. She dreamed she was pursued by snakes, which she said often appear to her before misfortune comes, affecting herself or family.

CLEAR MYSTERY OF LOST MAIL

Detectives Arrest Man Who It Is Claimed Took Many Pouches of Mail.

USED THE CHECKS

Acids and Other Means Were Employed to Make Them Look Genuine.

New York, Oct. 3.—By the arrest of a man and a woman in Denver, Colo., detectives have cleared up a mystery that for a month surrounded one of the boldest mail pouch robberies of recent years. The prisoners are Charles H. Crawford, alias E. B. Bell, alias Hammond, alias Homan, and Mrs. Eula Carolyn Barnes.

In one pouch which was stolen in Philadelphia were checks and drafts for $500,000, and not until a score of banns had lost thousands of dollars by the work of an expert forger were the arrests made.

In unraveling the case the detectives brought back into their net a young man who had been implicated in four previous mail pouch robberies, is an expert forger, and has served four terms in prison.

That he was at liberty was the first clue taken up, and this led to his arrest.

Pose as English Folk.
The arrest also reveals the gay summer sea shore life at Asbury Park of the young couple, where they were entertained as recent arrivals from Crewe, England. The husband found time to run over to Philadelphia on Sept. 8, where early that evening was stolen a mail pouch destined for Pittsburgh, in which were 2,500 letters with inclosures from banks for Western correspondents. Crawford was arrested in St. Anthony's hospital in Denver, where he was about to undergo an operation.

When the Philadelphia pouch had been missing about a week several banks reported that checks had been presented for payment. It was found that these had been mailed in the stolen pouch. By the use of acids the name of the payee had been erased and new names inserted. Checks that originally were drawn for $30 had been cleverly raised to ten times that amount. Checks for more than $100 were only altered so far as the payees' names were concerned.

Other Crimes Are Charged.
It was recalled that a mail pouch had been stolen at Springfield Junction, Ill., last April, and that an A. E. Hammond had opened a cash account at the Lincoln Trust company, St. Louis, depositing a number of altered checks from the stolen mail pouch. The prisoners will be first sent to St. Louis for trial there in connection with the Springfield Junction affair, and an effort will be made to have them given long sentences.

Crosby is suspected of committing numerous postoffice robberies in New York, Buffalo, and other cities. He is said to have made a big haul in Buffalo some time ago, when he disguised himself as a railway porter and got off with a pouch.

PARKS RULES SESSION
OF THE IRON WORKERS

Defeats Proposition Espoused by President Buchanan to Bar Political Employees From Office.

Kansas City, Oct. 3.—Samuel Parks won a personal victory over President Buchanan in Friday's session of the convention of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers. It developed when an amendment to the constitution, drawn by J. Dugan of Chicago, a Buchanan adherent, to the effect that no man holding political office be eligible to representation at any convention of the association, or to hold an executive office therein, came up for a vote. It was directed at Richard J. Butler, a member of Local 2 and an assemblyman from New York city. President Buchanan left the chair and spoke for the amendment, and was followed by Samuel Parks, who opposed it in one of the most ardent speeches of the convention. The amendment was defeated, 15 to 32. One-third of the delegates did not vote. After the convention adjourned the Parks crowd asserted that the vote showed their strength, and that Donnelly would be elected for president over Buchanan.

BIGGEST ENGINES EVER MADE WILL BE USED AT ST. LOUIS

FEATS IN ENGINEERING NOT BE FORE ATTEMPTED.

ARE GIANTS OF THEIR KIND

Those of the Chicago and Paris Expositions Were Pioneers in Comparison with These.

In addition to the exhibition power plant proper, which will develop 22,000 horse power, there will be exhibited in the department of machinery at the world's fair in 1904 a large number of power generators which will increase the total horse power
to about 40,000. Thomas M. Moore, chief of the department of machinery, has the following to say upon the exhibitors' power plants.

"The department of machinery of the world's fair at St. Louis has practically decided to accept an iron-belt steam engine as one of the prime movers in our great exposition power plant. A few days since I completed arrangements with the Murray Iron Works of Burlington, to accept one of their 800 horse power heavy duty Corliss type steam engines. I expect to directly couple with this a Crocker-Wheeler generator, and this generating set will be one of five items which will operate
our intramural railway system.

The Distribution

"The character and territorial distribution of the states from which these items are drawn is interesting.
One steam engine of 600 horse power
is the product of the Harrington Foundry and Machine Co., of Harriburg, Pa. A second steam engine of 700 horse power is the product of the Lane and Rodley Co., of Cincinnati, O. A third, of 800 horse power, is the product of the Murray Iron Works, of Burlington, Ia. A gas engine of 1,500 horse power is the product of A. Borsig, of Tegal, near Berlin, Germany, and the gas producer for the operation of this engine is the product of Julius Platensch, of Berlin, Germany. A tangential water wheel of 300 horse power rating is the product of the Abner Doble Co., of San Francisco, Cal., and the artificial head to operate this water wheel will probably be effected by a centrifugal pump directly driven by a steam turbine from Stockholm, Sweden, and the water will be measured by a meter built by the Builders' Iron Foundry
of Providence, R. I. The generators will be the product of the Crocker-Wheeler Co., of Amherst, N. Y., and the switchboard will probably come from Boston, Mass. All of these items will be assembled on one large space, where also an opportunity will be given to each of the constituent exhibitors to install an office adjacent to their exhibits.

The Comparison

"By comparison with former ex-
positions, the following facts appear.
The largest steam engine in the Chicago exposition was rated at 2-500 horse power, and the largest gas engine in that exposition at 10 horse power. The largest steam engine in the Paris exposition (which, by the way, was the largest steam engine ever exhibited in any exposition
up to this time) was rated at 4,000 horse power. It will thus be seen that we show a steam engine of over three times the power of the largest shown in the Chicago exposition, and of over twice the power of any shown in the Paris exposition; or,
in fact, in any exposition prior to this time.

At Chicago

"The comparison with reference to gas engines is still more impressive.
Those exhibited in Chicago were relatively mere toys, and the largest exhibited up to this time have been of 600 horse power capacity, as shown in the Paris exposition of 1900, and the Dusseldorf exposition of 1902.
From this it will appear that the 3,000 horse power engine exceeds by five times the power of any gas engine ever before publicly exhibited.
As a matter of fact, we will have several gas engines, each developing over 1,000 horse power, and several of them over 1,750 horse power, and we will in our steam, gas, and fuel building produce the gas for the operation of these engines. I believe that we will demonstrate the fact that the gas engine is a feasible prime mover in the operation of lighting and power plants, and that the use of the gas engine is an economic and efficient method of producing natural gas, which furnishes gas. So far as rating goes, my information is to the effect that no gas engine of over 2,000 horse power has ever before this time been put in operation. Of course you are aware that up to this time no real display of steam turbines has ever been shown, that nothing of an impossible character has ever been exhibited, and the display of a rotary steam engine operating normally at 8,000
horse power and with the capacity to develop from 10,000 to 12,000
horse power, is an item which must command the attention of all engineers and of all interested in questions of power.

3,900 Horse Power

"The total load will be 3,900 horse power, with a capacity for temporary overload of 25 per cent. additional. Save in very minor instances, we do not expect to generate any 500-volt direct current, except by this combination for the operation of our intramural railway, which will be about nine miles long—all within the fences of the exposition.
The total power generated, and used by the exposition will be in the neighborhood of 50,000 horse power. A relatively small percentage of this, as above stated, would be 500-volt direct current. A still smaller proportion of this will be 2,400-volt, three-phase, 50-cycle alternating current, and very minor items will give us 110 and 220-volt current, but over 80 per cent. of the electric energy which we will avail

of will be in 6,600 volt, three-phase, 25-cycle current.

No Details
"Without at the present burden-
ing you with the details of the various constituent parts of this great power plant, I think it will gratify
you to learn that the largest unit will be an 8,000 horse power steam turbine, and the next largest a 5,000 horse power compound horizontal and vertical reciprocating steam engine—the last named from Scraper, Belgium.

Simply Thousands
"We have come to talk of thousands of horse power so glibly and easily that I think we hardly appreciate that we have reached the limit of possibility with the present carrying capacity of our railways. By this I mean the capacity and free passage room on and through railway
bridges and through railway tunnels.
Nevertheless I think it is a fact that not one person in a hundred thousand has ever seen a steam turbine of 8,000 horse power capacity; not one person in ten thousand has ever seen a reciprocating steam engine of 5,000 horse power capacity, and no one in the world has ever seen a gas engine of 3,000 horse power capacity.

Another Comparison

"The comparisons as to size between these great engines will also be most interesting. The 8,000 horse power unit will occupy floor space
about 15 by 23 feet and require about 25 feet head room. The 5,000 horse power reciprocating engine will call for floor space about 49 by 65 feet, and about 31 feet head room, while the gas engine of 3,000 horse power will require floor space about 52 by 36 feet, and head room of 20 feet. The last named item weights, exclusive of fly wheel and generator, something over 250 tons,
and with fly wheel and generator,
something over 400 tons. In other words, it will require for its transportation something like twelve large sized freight cars, or a very respectable sized train."

Today really opens the football series of the year. In the first place Wisconsin meets the first team of the year while its opponents; Naperville is not a strong team still the difference between playing with scrubs who know your signals and a team which has had
as careful training as the university will show just what Coach Curtis is doing for the boys.

Chicago meets Indiana and this should help determine whether Chicago is to be classed as invincible as heretofore. Minnesota also will have a tussle with its own enemies Grinnell.
There was a time when this tussle was considered a comer in the western athletic world but of late years the little team has just held its own class. Michigan plays Case. The Case game is a yearly affair and the men Mr. Yost has been so carefully training will not have to show what they really know
of the game to defeat their opponents.

Northwestern meets Monmouth
at Evanston. There has been so much news paper talk about Coach Mc-Cormick and his purple team that it will be interesting to note just what the purple can really do. Monmouth is not a strong team, but neither is Northwestern and the result should be close. Once Purdue was a powerful team in the middle west,
but the past two or three years it has dropped off wonderfully. This year they have taken a brace and today they meet Franklin.

The East

Results in the east can all be foretold with ease. Of course there are times when even the best teams are scored upon but none of the Big Four should allow their goal line
to be in danger in today's games.

Harvard meets Maine, Yale plays
Vermont, Princeton has Georgia-
town for a playmate, Pennsylvania will try with Lehigh and Columbia has Union at New York, Williams
meets Laureate.

Amherst vs. Colby, West Point vs. Tufts, Carlisle vs. Bucknell, Dartmouth vs. Holy Cross and Brown vs. Wesleyan complete the list.

An Open Season.

Opinion differ as to the strength of the different teams. Wisconsin is course of a dark horse. They have had no games to show what Coach Curtis has done for them. Unfortunately they are not favorites in Chicago with the sporting editors
and their actions can not be as closely watched and judged as the work of Ann Harbor, Chicago and Northwestern. Chicago has not yet commenced to call wolf but Coach Curtis will doubtless soon start his usual talk on how crippled his team is.
An Arher is saving wool and if weaker than last year the fact has not been allowed to leak outside the training quarters. Minnesota is still very strong and will doubtless fulfill Coach Williams' prediction that it will be near the top Thanksgiving day.

Stranger Than Fiction.

The wind bloweth
The water floweth
The farmer soweth
The subscriber oweth
And the Lord knoweth
That we are in need of our dues
So come a'runnin'
Ere we go a'gunnin'

Gives us the blues.

ODD FELLOWS ARE WELL RECEIVED

Representatives from Six Towns Entertained by Rock River Encampment Last Evening.

Three teams of the Rock River encampment conferred the three encampment degrees of nine candidates, two from Janesville and seven from Orfordville, last evening, and the visiting Odd Fellows, who turned out in goodly numbers all united in saying that the Janesville members were royal entertainers. The teams received many compliments on their proficiency.

Odd Fellows from Baraboo, Stoughton, Beloit, Evansville, Orfordville,
and Madison were present at the ceremonies. James A. Fathers presided, and had charge of the work, which was very impressive. The men who were given the encampment degrees were C. W. Butler and James W. Scott of this city, and Frederick Holden, T. O. Wee, A. K.
Trastem, J. N. Wells, Harold Christensen, E. E. Haugen and Herman Sater, of Orfordville. On account of the number of candidates, the meeting was begun early in the evening, but the degree work was not concluded until almost two o'clock.
At that time the banquet was served and a jolly time ensued until the adjournment of the meeting. That they had been well entertained was the opinion of the visiting Odd Fellows, who were:

FARM TALK ON KILLING GERMS

Hessian Flies Can Be Exterminated,
If More Care Is Taken in the Fall.

Professor D. Alton Saunders, of the department of botany and entomology of the South Dakota Agricultural college writes as follows:
"Unusually heavy damages have been caused the present season to the wheat fields of South Dakota by the Hessian fly, assisted in some localities by the wheat stem maggot
and in others by the grain aphid or grain plant louse.

"For several years more or less damage has been caused by the Hessian fly. The insect is so small that usually the damage it does is lost to rust, drought or other causes.
The resting place of a Hessian fly is a small dark body about the size of a flax seed, and is found inside the leaf sheath of the wheat near the base of the plant. The insect lives over the winter in the wheat straw and in the spring emerges as a fly, which lays its eggs on the young growing wheat and soon dies. These eggs hatch into small white maggots or grubs, which feed upon the stem of the wheat until they pass into the resting stage.
The following suggestions of Professor Washburn should be carefully followed:

"Burn the stubble when possible.
This is particularly desirable when,
from any reason, shallow plowing is unavoidable. If the stubble is left long it will burn easier. Some farmers are willing to go to the trouble
of spreading straw from thrashing
over the stubble, thus insuring the burning and at the same time getting rid of some 'flaxseeds,' which may have lodged on the surface of the straw pile at the time of thrashing.

Should Plow Deep

"Fall plowing of the stubble is completely turned over.
"All screenings and litter about the thrashing machine should be cleaned up and either fed immediately or burned, leaving no litter from the thrashing on the field. There is no absolute need of burning the straw pile. The flies emerging from 'flax seed' in the center of the pile
will never reach the surface.

"Since the fly lays its eggs, as a rule, near the locality where it emerges from the 'flax seed' it is best not to plant wheat on the same ground two years in succession
where rotation is possible. Varieties of wheat that produce a stout stalk are the least affected by the pest.

"Co-operation is absolutely necessary, for however careful one man
may be, if his neighbor is not equally so, the latter's field will afford a supply of the pest for the former.
Since this pest issues from the 'flax seed' early in May, a stubble field
left for corn land and not plowed up to the 10th of May has probably discharged its quota of flies ready for mischievous before plowing."

There are also several parasites
that help to keep the Hessian fly
in check. They are very small flies that lay their eggs on the 'flaxseed'
stage of the fly. The eggs hatch into a minute grub which feeds on the resting stage of the Hessian fly.

ANNUAL MEETING OF METHODISTS

COURT STREET CHURCH HOLDS ITS YEARLY GATHERING.

COMMITTEES MAKE REPORTS

The Society Held a Basket Supper, and Were Informed of the Year's Work.

The members and friends of Court Street Methodist church enjoyed a basket picnic social at the church parlors last evening.

The society was well represented
and after partaking of a bountiful supper, reports were called for and a pleasant hour was spent in listening to detailed statements of the various branches of church work.

The pastor, Rev. J. H. Tippetts, who has just commenced his third year's pastorate, spoke encouragingly of the year just closed and hopefully of the year at hand. The church membership is a trifle more than 300 and the net gain for the year
had been about ten per cent.

In benevolence the society had established a new record, giving more than any previous year. Harmony prevailed and a growing spirit of earnestness and loyalty.

The Sunday school Supt. J. L. Hay reported an enrollment of 160, with an average attendance of 120. "The scholars were largely members of the church, and interested in its prosperity. The average collections were about $2.50 per Sunday, and the annual expenses $120. He urged the moral support of the church membership and foresees a hopeful future.

Miss Gertrude Green, president of the Epworth league society, spoke of the work accomplished during the year. The society has a membership of about 50, exclusive of the Junior league which enrolls some 60 add names. The meetings had been well attended and a spirit of interest manifest. The mercy and help department has accomplished good work among the sick and needy, and the society took up the work of the new year with courage and determination to make it the best year
of its history.

In the absence of Mrs. E. Boomer, president of the Juniors, the pastor
reported the society in flourishing condition, and urged the parents to give it support.

Mrs. S. C. Burnham is the presiding officer of the Ladies' Aid society, and the report included a brief history of the society since its organization in 1870. Money has been freely contributed to the church treasury, from year to year, and the organist has been paid from funds provided. The financial plan adopted for this year is a membership fee of 5 cents per week. The society is strong in social features, and is recognized as a valuable adjunct in church work.

Mrs. C. A. Hunt, who has been connected with the Woman's Foreign Missionary society, spoke of the date of its organization, since the work accomplished. The society has a membership of 50 earnest women who are enthusiastic in the work. Three girls are being educated in China, and something over $200 was raised last year.

The church enjoys the services of one of the best quartettes in the city and the music committee was instructed to continue the service for the present year. The quartette is composed of Mr. and Mrs. C. F.
Yates, Mrs. Fannie Clark and Mr.
George Parris, with Miss Edith Warner at the organ.

The pews of the church are free,
as they have been for a number of years. The financial plan adopted is the selling of stock based on a subscription of 5 cents per day or when full paid representing $18 per share.

The report of the treasurer, S. C.
Burnham, showed that this plan
worked by his predecessor, S. D.
Conant, was a success last year, as all liabilities were met promptly
with a balance on the right side.
The running expenses of the church are about $2,300 per year, and the chairman of the finance committee,
Dr. E. E. Loomis, presented a subscription for stock, which met with liberal response.

The members of Court Street
church have occasion to congratulate themselves on conditions that prevail. The society is prosperous and enthusiastic and the outlook for the future is promising.

ROMANS GAVE TO ANCIENT GODS

Set Aside Part of Each Year's Income for the Use of Temples.

We are now approaching the end of our inquiries from non-biblical sources, respecting Pagan tithing-ing, and we proceed to ask how far the practice obtained among the Romans, and some few other Pagan nations of ancient Europe.

As with the Greeks, so with the subjects of Rome, we are able to trace the customs to their earliest or legendary history. Hercules is the god most frequently mentioned among them, as the receiver of tithes. He was one of their chief,
and most ancient deities; his rites,
as Livy testifies, having been first taken into use by Romulus, who founded Rome (some say B. C. 753).
Soon afterwards we come to the legendary king of Rome, Tarquinius Priscus (616-578 B. C.), who having taken Suessa, is said to have paid
a tithe, of at least 400 talents of silver, to the gods in general. Later, that is about 458 B. C. we are told of another legendary hero, Marcus Coriolanus, who would not distribute his spoils to the soldiers till he had first deducted that which was sacred to the gods; and so likewise Marcus Horatius, after his victory over the Sabines, first separated whatever was to be dedicated to the gods.

An Incident.

Next in order of time, perhaps,
should be mentioned an incident
which speaks volumes for the reverence and sacredness with which the payment of tithes was regarded by Romans and Greeks alike, as recorded by Livy and Plutarch. After the conquest of the city of Veii by Camillus (395 B. C.) the Augurs, or temple prognosticators, made report that the gods were greatly offended, they knew not why, until the sacrifices enlightened them. Whereupon, Camillus stated publicly, that this was not at all surprising, for the state had gone mad, in not acquitting itself of its religious obligations. Moreover, his conduct would not allow him to pass over in silence the fact, that the spoil had not been properly tithed. Accordingly money was issued from the treasury to rectify this; and it was resolved that a golden bowl, (made of jewels brought by the women), should be carried to Delphi as an offering to Apollo.

Gave Presents.

Lucius Valerius, Lucius Sergius, and Aulus Manlius, being sent in a ship of war to carry the golden bowl to Delphi, were intercepted by the pirates of the Liparenses, and carried to Lipara. Upon this the chief magistrate, reverencing the name of ambassadors, and the offering, and the guilt to whom it was sent, and the cause of the offering, impressed
the multitude also with a sense of religious justice; and after having brought the ambassadors to a public entertainment, escorted them with the protection of ships to Delphi,
and from thence brought them back in safety to Rome.

Given Dictators.

We have instances of tithes being offered by more than one, also, of the Dictators. Thus Postumius, upon his victory over the Latins, tithed
the spoils, and spent 40 talents
upon sacrifices, and prayers in honor of the gods, besides erecting a temple with what remained. To Ceres, Bacchus and Proserpina. And similarly we read of Sulla, a celebrated Roman general and dictator born about 138 B. C., of whom Plutarch says the people were feasted in connecting with the dedication of his tentacles to Hercules.

Lucius Mummilius, the Roman consul who captured Cornith and completed the Roman conquest of Greece 146 B. C. is another example of a conqueror dedicating spoils of war to Hercules, under the name of Sanctus Semipater, and this we learn from an inscription which says it was done, "according to ancient custom."

And we have the case about a century later, of Cassius, whose estate
before his Porthian expedition 53 to 61
B. C. being computed at 7,100 talents, the tithe to Hercules is mentioned as a usual charge thereupon.

Gave Spoils.

It would seem, in fact, to have been the proper and ordinary thing for a Roman commander to offer a portion of his spoils to some deity,
if we may believe the testimony of Servius, who lived in the fifth century, and who says that, "it was a Roman custom when they made war,
to promise some of the spoils to the gods, and therefore there was a temple at Rome, dedicated Jovi Prodicatori; not that he presided over the spoils, but because some of the prey was due him."

SPECIAL COLUMN FOR THE Little Readers of The Gazette.

SUNSHINE AND SHADOW.

"Good morning, merry sunshine! sang a happy child as she sat upon the door step."

Presently Aunt Margaret observed a change in the words which seemed a misfit to the tune and listening, she heard, "I'm going home today."

We will soon be ready, dear, she called to Flora who had just started for the gate.

"You'll find me swinging on the gate, auntie."

Flora had spent a week on the farm, having such delightful times hunting hen's nests in the hay loft and gathering apples, or feeding the black nosed calf that looked at her with wondering eyes which seemed to say "Thank you."

All the long morning she had watched up and down the road for the coming of the stork which was promised for the first pleasant day in October.

"There he comes, I believe," and she climbed one board higher. But when the bounding object came near it proved to be a stray Billy goat, the first Flora had seen.

"That is not like a bird," she mused disappointedly.

Not far behind him followed the owner; a barefoot boy in overalls and a rimless straw hat; and on his arm a rope which he threw over the goat's head and led him to the gate.

"Meh! he said to Flora who knew not what reply to make, but as the queer horned creature leaped aside, throwing his master off his feet, and bounded away—she called, "Good-bye, I'm going home today."

Music was heard in the distance, presently it passed. Men in red coats with brass buttons rode in a high wagon with much gold on it,—drawn by six black horses.

They played on bright horns; some straight, others curled like dandelions; and large drums, one like brother's—only, larger.

The music was soon forgotten in the wonderful sights that followed. There were beautiful ponies, a very wrinkled elephant, and a frightful snaky bear, and wagons with pictures painted on them of animals such as Flora had not seen, but she would ask brother Ralph, about them; he was two years older and knew 'most everything.

There were no birds, One picture was of a spotted animal, like a horse with a very long neck. Flora saw his head through the iron bars at the top of the cage.

Another picture was like Prince, the greyhound, only with bushy hair around his head and shoulders; and such wild eyes!

In one picture the animals looked almost like people.

There were no birds, Last came a red and gold chariot in which rode a funny man who made faces and smiled at Flora, as she afterwards told auntie. Though she dare not speak to him, she thought the stork was following in the crowd—for he looked so pleasant. But when every wagon and shouting boy had passed the corner a disappointed child climbed down from the gate and turned toward the house.

She stooped to pick up a broken-winged butterfly—"Probably a horse and buggy stepped on him," she remarked; and pulling a handful of grass, laid the white beauty on it saying "Guess he'll keep warm now.—Good-bye."

The carriage stopped to take Flora in, auntie gave her a mysterious package to hold, and an open box of chocolates.

A half-hour's drive brought them to her home on Highland Avenue. Prince bounded out to meet the carriage and in dog language whispered to Flora, his welcome.

Ralph helped "sister" to alight and slyly placing his arm around her he bit his lips to keep the secret till they had reached the door where waited grandmamma with a blue and white bundle in her arms—a wriggling crying bundle.

Sounds like a Billy goat, said Flora laughing and rising on tiptoe for a nearer view. "But she's our dear little sister!"—exclaimed Ralph. "What shall her name be?"

"Birdie! Birdie!" suggested Flora in glee; and "Birdie" it became.

M. E. D.

The latest novelty in dinner parties comes from Madison and according to the Democrat was a most successful affair. It was in the form of a progressive luncheon and it is needless to say that it was concocted in the brains of young ladies of the university.

A novel rushing party was given yesterday by a university sorority. It took the form of a progressive luncheon served in four courses at different Madison homes. The guests were first taken, four at a time, to the home of Miss Ruth Goe, 151 East Gorham street, where the first course, consisting of almond purée, celery, and wafers, was served. The decorations were in yellow. Yellow nasturtiums occupied the center of the table, while the menu cards were daintily as possible. They were made of water color paper with a nasturtium painted at the top, and the card cut out in the shape of the flower. The guests were then driven in carriages to the home of Miss Dorothy White, 309 Wisconsin avenue, where the second course was served. This constituted of salmon loaf, potato chips, olive and cheese straws, chocolate and sandwiches. The next course was served at the home of Miss Marjorie Johnson, on Henry street. The guests were here served salad and wafers, and then driven to the Kap-pa Alpha Theta house, 901 University avenue. Here the last course was served, consisting of cherry ice, cake and coffee. In each of the homes the hostesses were assisted by three of her Theta sisters, while two of the sorority girls went from house to house with the guests. Fourteen active members participated, while the total number of girls entertained was about two dozen.

Yesterday afternoon the first meeting for the year of the Art league was held at the home of Mrs. May Smiley, 126 Milton avenue. There was a special business meeting aside from the regular program of the afternoon, which was as follows:

Koli Call, Quotations from Genesis or Paradise Lost.

Hesiod and His Theogony—Mrs. Tanberg.

Ovid's Story of Creation—Mrs. Smiley.

The Creation According to Early Philosophers, I. e. Thales, Anaximander, Anaximenes, Heraclitus—Mrs. Powell.

The Creation According to Lucretius—Mrs. Searles.

Hesiod's Story of Prometheus and Pandora—Mrs. Noyes.

The Creation of Prometheus in Aeschylus' Prometheus Bound—Mrs. Murdoch.

The Meaning of Shelley's Prometheus Unbound—Mrs. Tarrant.

Readings from Longfellow's Masque Pandora, with assigned parts.

Mrs. W. C. Holmes, Mrs. W. H. Judd, Mrs. W. H. Greenman and Miss Greenman entertained about fifty ladies most delightfully at the home of Mrs. Judd, 4 St. Lawrence place, Thursday afternoon. The invitations were for 2:30 and the afternoon was spent at six handed euchre. Mrs. H. A. Ford won first prize and Mrs. Chas. Hostwick the lucky number. At five o'clock a most delicious three-course luncheon was served, and the affair was one of the most enjoyable of the season. The ladies are entertaining again this afternoon.

H. H. McKinney will leave the first of the coming week for Lake Koshkonong for the fall hunting.

Harry Nowlan is at Lake Koshkonong for a week's hunting.

Dr. W. E. Palmer is expected home from Star Lake either tonight or Monday.

This evening Mr. Arthur M. Valentine and Miss Mae Valentine will entertain at a dancing party at Central hall to meet Mr. and Mrs. Archard, the Misses Morgan and Miss Grace Valentine.

Mrs. John Fisher entertained some of her young lady friends at six o'clock tea during the past week.

Mrs. J. D. Brownell entertained this afternoon for a number of young ladies, at her home on Milwaukee avenue.

Mrs. F. M. Gramke has returned to her home in Chicago after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Algrim.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bailey visited during the past week at Albany.

Mrs. Fred Parsons of Toledo, Ohio, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Spaulding at their cottage on Lake Koshkonong.

Mrs. W. H. Palmer has returned from a month's outing at Star Lake, Wis.

Mrs. Anna Baker who has been quite ill at her Park place home for the past three weeks is slowly improving.

Misses Mary Barker and Elizabeth Palmer were in Chicago this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Barrington spent the week in Chicago.

The chorus choir at Christ church has been abandoned and a quartette has been installed in its place.

CONSUMES MANY HIDES.

287,165 Animals Required to Supply the Big Mayer Shoe Factory at Milwaukee.

Interesting Report of a Great Manufacturing Establishment.

What becomes of the thousands of hides gathered together annually in this country, and how are they consumed? This question may come to the minds of many stock raisers, but few have any conception of the daily requirements of a single great modern institution like the Mayer Boot & Shoe Company of Milwaukee. This concern made into shoes last year the hides of 287,165 animals. Figured on the basis of 300 working days a year, the hides of nearly 1,000 animals were required each day to keep the working force and the machinery in operation.

To supply the demand for the trade during the last year there were made into shoes the hides of 41,585 steers.

21,492 cows.
38,952 calves.
135,756 goats.
46,820 sheep.
1,740 horses.
1,020 ka ngaroor.

If all these animals were placed in single file it would make one continuous line, 273 miles long, or about the distance from Chicago to St. Louis. The number of animals required to supply the hides for each working day, if lined up at the Mayer factory every morning, would reach almost a mile.

To work so large an amount of material into the finished product necessitated the employment of over 600 people the year round. The wages paid would support every man, woman and child in a city of 3,000 inhabitants.

The Mayer factory has a capacity of 6,000 pairs of shoes a day. It is located in the greatest leather market in the world, and gets the first selection of hides, which is largely responsible for the superiority of Mayer shoes and the universal satisfaction given to the vast army of people who wear, and insist upon being supplied with, shoes bearing the Mayer trade mark.

A Good Thing.

Every issue of THE FOUR TRACK NEWS makes it easier for ticket agents and ticket sellers to secure passengers for distant parts of the country, for the reason that every article and every illustration in The Four Track News is an inducement for readers to travel and see what a marvelous variety of scenery and climate our own country possesses. The more these facts are impressed upon the average person, the more certain he or she is to have a desire to travel. Therefore, The Four Track News is not only in the interest of all the transportation lines and hotels, it also bears out the legend of its title page of "An Illustrated Magazine of Travel and Education.—From the Buffalo Commercial.

NO MORE HAZING AT WISCONSIN

President Van Hise Declares Its Practice Mean and Cowardly.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 3.—"All hazing at the University of Wisconsin must cease," said President Van Hise in his first address to the students. "I declare the practice to be cowardly and mean and will not tolerate it. Police, professors and students will be called upon to stop it. Expulsion from the university will be freely employed if necessary. Every student here costs the state $150 a year and we are going to have order." Hazing has prevailed this year more than ever before.

THIRTY ARE WOUNDED IN RIOT

Berlin Police Inflict Saber Cuts on Violent Strikers.

Berlin, Oct. 3.—Thirty persons suffering from saber cuts applied at the Red Cross station to have their wounds dressed after a riot between omnibus strikers and nonunionists in Nettiebeck Square here. The police on foot charged the rioters with drawn swords and mounted police cleared the streets. The strike is a small one, only about 1,000 men being engaged, but the men are embittered and violent.

MURDER JEWS AND CHRISTIANS

Four Hundred Persons Are Massacred in a Russian Town.

Vienna, Oct. 3.—The Czernowitz, the newspaper which first announced the Kishineff riots, reports that another massacre occurred at the town of Mohilev-Podolsky, near Kishineff, in which 300 Jews and 100 Christians were killed. Mohilev-Podolsky is a town on the Dniester with a population of 18,129, comprising many Jews. It has an active trade with Wallachia and the adjacent provinces.

President Declares He Will Call Extra Session to Consider Cuba's Case.

Washington, Oct. 3.—President Roosevelt positively declines to reconsider his determination to call a special session of congress in November, notwithstanding the pressure brought to bear on him by party leaders. He declares the faith of the nation is pledged to reciprocity with Cuba and the treaty must be made effective at the earliest possible moment.

ASK BIG FUND FOR THE BLACKS

Proposition to Raise $200,000,000 to Help Colored People.

New York, Oct. 3.—The commercial American negro national convention has decided to raise a fund of $200,000,000 to aid negroes in this country. On the suggestion of the committee it was declared that the 10,000,000 negroes in the United States might be taxed 41 cents a month. This would create a fund of $50,000,000 in one year, or $200,000,000 in four years. The interest on this sum at 4 per cent, $8,000,000 a year, could be used for the establishment of factories, banking institutions, the purchase of valuable stocks and the organization of other business enterprises for the benefit of the race.

DOCTORS FAIL IN THEIR DUTY

Seven Physicians Refuse to Attend Child Who Had Been Burned.

Meriden, Conn., Oct. 3.—Seven physicians who were asked to attend a child who had been terribly burned refused, it is said, to care for the case, and when, four hours after the accident, a doctor was secured, Myrtle Curtis, seven years old, was dead, after awful suffering. Her mother was driven insane by the accident and was found wandering in the woods.

DANGER SIGNALS.

Sitting in the cab of a mogul engine that was speeding west at a 60 mile pace drawing the overland limited, the old engineer, who had grown gray in the service, was watched with increasing interest.

With his hand on the lever, and eye steadily fixed on the track ahead which sparkled under the dazzling glare of a brilliant head light, the little stations were passed so rapidly that they were scarcely noticed.

Rounding a curve and straightening out for the long climb of the steadily ascending grade in the foot hills, a red light showed up a mile ahead. The lever was pushed back a notch, soon the steam was shut off, the air applied, and the engine stopped just before the light was reached.

The old man at the throttle said, "Well, I wonder what's up now. We are an hour behind time but I thought we had the right of way to the summit."

Soon the conductor came to the cab with orders to take the siding and wait for a special.

The train was quickly transferred and while the engine took in long breaths, and gathered steam for the work ahead, the old engineer became communicative.

In reply to the question, "Do you depend entirely upon signal lights for the night's run?" he said,

"Yes my boy, lights and orders, but mostly lights. You see we don't stop very often and when we are on time, about the only orders that we have, is, 'to get there', and the lights are the only thing that we can depend on for a clear track."

Curiosity prompted the question, "What if the switch lights are out, does that mean a signal?"

"Yes, he replied, 'that always means danger, and we never run by a dark switch.' 'Then, he continued, 'there are three kinds of lights and they speak more distinctly than the human voice and they are recognized as far as the eye can distinguish them.'"

"The white light means a clear track and safety, and it is always a welcome light, and especially when we are slipping down a grade about as fast as the wheels can turn."

"The green light means slow down and we whiz by at slackened speed to find that a bridge is being repaired, or something being done to the track that we knew nothing about."

"A red light means danger and says 'stop' so distinctly that we never run by it."

As he finished talking, the "special" shot by, and the white light ahead indicated a clear track. The swinging of a lantern said "go" and the overland pulled out from the siding and was soon climbing up the incline towards the summit.

Some one has said that life is like the overland express, ever rushing forward through sunshine and shadow, but always under control when properly equipped and rightly handled, and yet the wreckage that lines the roadway, is appalling.

The down grades are run at such terrific speed that disaster frequently results, and the up grades are so heavy that the trip is often abandoned, before the climb has fairly commenced.

There are many causes which contribute to wreckage that can not be charged to the right of way, nor to the road bed.

Sometimes it is faulty construction and poor equipment, for which the life is not entirely responsible. The boy goes out from home with a false conception of what the journey means.

He has never discovered that there is any climbing to be done, and he slips down the grade and out into obscurity of his own momentum. The down grades of life are much dangerous than the up grades.

because, when all restraint is removed, the life is more difficult to control.

But the danger signals hang out at every station, and no life, however well equipped, or thoroughly equipped, can afford to ignore them.

The white light that is displayed from darkness until day light is the prevailing light and because of this fact the trains of commerce move with monotonous regularity and usually on time, but the same signal tower that flashes the white light also flashes the green and red and both are of equal significance.

Here is a young man who has reached the age of 25. He comes from a good home and his fine physique and manly bearing speak of health and a robust body.

Talk with him and you soon discover that he has a clear brain and well stored mind. Get up close to him, and you note that he has a heart that is pure, and filled with right impulses.

He has steam up and with the hand of will and determination on the lever, is ready for the climb. Ask him about the signals, and he will tell you that the white light has greeted him at almost every turn of the wheel, and that the green and red are not strangers to his experience.

If he is inclined to talk he may tell you that one starlight night when he was making good time on an easy grade, that a green light flashed its ray across the track, and he slowed down to discover that ambition and selfishness was assuming control, and that judgment and common sense were being dethroned.

Or he may become confidential and relate the experiences of that dark and stormy night then he was bending every energy to make time on a slippery track. He had no thought of danger until he rounded the curve and caught a glimpse of the red light in the distance.

When he stopped at the little way station that used to be his home and his mother kissed him, and looking into his eyes said "yes John I am afraid you are traveling at a too rapid pace to hold out. I want my boy to win success, but above all I want him to be pure in mind and heart."

He may tell you how he resumed the journey, and how the warning and the memory of the mother's solicitude had proved a benediction.

While the white light indicates a clear track, and invites to beat on, endeavor it is well to watch for danger signals and heed them. They are hung out in every department of life, and have to do with both health and morals.

A man may inherit an iron constitution. He may possess will power that knows no discouragement. The days may be too short to accomplish the work in hand, but there comes a time long before he reaches the age limit, when the red light warns him repeatedly of danger.

Unless the warning is heeded he is just as sure of physical wreckage as he is of existence. The laws of nature are invincible and no man can afford to trifle with them.

The young man who fails to heed the danger signals that are constantly displayed for his benefit, may be assured that moral wreckage will come to him early in his career.

He may think that he can handle fire without being burned, but the experiment has never been successful.

The fountain of life is the heart, when it is kept pure and clean, the white light will be largely in evidence and the journey will lead to destiny and the highest success.

Mr. Mills is meeting with good success and many people are taking an interest in the Hook and Eye industry. Some one estimates that 175,000,000 gross of safety pins were sold last year. The product of hooks and eyes was more than three times that amount. The U-Pin-it takes the place of safety pins and is also a perfect hook and eye. There will be no limit to the sale of goods.

While Beloit college has placed a ban upon marriage, the Chicago university is said to have introduced a chair of matrimony in charge of Prof. Davenport. "How to catch and keep a husband although a co-ed" is the lesson he will attempt to teach and the new course of study promises to be very popular. The Chicago university is progressive and possibly Beloit could take some lessons to advantage.

The three Van Wormer brothers, who paid the death penalty in the electric chair at Clinton prison, New York last Thursday, will doubtless be classed as degenerates, and yet they came from a good home, and there is nothing to indicate that vice was inherited. They were never required to work when boys, and idleness seems to be responsible for their downfall.

Golden Rule Jones, mayor of Toledo, was a guest in Chicago this week and at the Auditorium, entertained the audience with one of his characteristic speeches. Mayor Jones claims to be a man without a party and he advocates that in the good time coming, when the golden rule shall govern action that parties and political organizations will be an unknown quantity.

Massachusetts democracy is a recent convention in Boston, lauded Gen. Nelson A. Miles, to the skies, holding him up as "the foremost American soldier living today." Gen. Miles has been talked of as a possible presidential candidate, and as available timber is so scarce this may account for democratic enthusiasm at the hub.

Reflecting Telescopes. Recent work with reflecting telescopes indicates that in a good atmosphere the photographs taken by the projected eight-foot reflector of the Lick observatory should show us a universe 300 times as great as that revealed by our best refractors. That is, such an instrument should detect stars seven times as far away as that which have been yet observed.

BEET HARVEST SOON TO BEGIN

GOOD YIELD REPORTED, AND THE GROWERS ENTHUSIASTIC.

SUGAR BEET MAN IS HERE

Helms Will Have Charge of Shipping From Points in This Vicinity.

Fifty cars loaded with sugar beets will be pulled out of Janesville daily as soon as the harvest gets under way. The crop this year has turned out well and the farmers who grew the big beets for the first time are enthusiastic over the prospects.

Office is Here
Edward Stark of Menominee Falls, one of the managers of the sugar beet factory at that town is making Janesville his headquarters for a few days, and is visiting the Rock county farmers who put in the crop in the spring, getting the amount of the yield, seeing to the condition of the crop, and giving directions as to the harvest.

Several Shipping Points
The hauling to the shipping points will begin next week and several road crossings in the city have been selected as weighing places, for all the beets brought in by the farmers must be weighed before placed on the cars. Some of the points where the crop will be loaded on to the cars are Grundy's warehouse, the Spring Brook crossing, and the transfer near the Hanson furniture factory.

Good Yield
The ground planted to beets this summer which will give an abundant yield, is altogether about four hundred acres in the immediate vicinity of the city.

Walter Helms will superintend the weighing and shipping of the crop from Janesville and there will be a number of other shipping points near the surrounding towns. An acre of the beets is an average carload and as there is quite a large crop growing in different parts of Rock county, the total number of carloads from Rock county will be large before the entire crop is harvested.

Twenty Tons to Acre
The beets average in weight from six to fifteen pounds a piece. Two good sized specimens have been on exhibition at Helms' store for the last few days. Five pounds is considered a good sized beet. Most of the beets in this vicinity will average twenty tons to the acre.

The crop is contracted for with the farmers by the beet sugar factory at Menominee and the growers are paid by weight, except in the case of extra fine lots when the beets are tested, and if they show a high per cent. sugar, more is paid accordingly.

The harvesting of the crop will take about two months so will continue well into November.

Growers Enthusiastic
The quick returns from the sugar beet industry and the relative small amount of work necessary, compared to tobacco, is making many farmers in the tobacco sections think of starting out with the new crop next year.

Old Tobacco Growers Change
A number near Janesville, some of whom have grown tobacco for many years, have signified their intention of turning their attentions to the new crop. The indications at present are that the acreage devoted to beets next year will be much increased, while the amount of tobacco planted will lessen accordingly.

WHO IS THIS MAN, OR IS IT NOT SO?

Democrat, at Madison, Takes a Crack at a Janesville Man, Recently.

Madison is always ready to take a zap at Janesville and the following from Friday's Democrat shows it very clearly:
"An eccentric old man from Janesville recently sat in the waiting room of one of the local depots. His arms were resting on his knees and his head was bent over, he evidently being in deep silent thoughts. Finally he sprang to his feet like a flash of lightning and murmured: 'Well, Lord, you and I are in the same boat. You sent your son on earth and he was crucified. I sent my son out west and he was hung for a horse-thief.' After concluding these remarks he quietly walked out of the door."

LITTLE LABORERS ASK FOR PERMITS

Many Have Appeared at the Court House During the Last Few Days.

The stir that the state factory inspection has caused, is making many minors take an increased interest in ascertaining whether or not they come under the age limit and is influencing superintendents to look over their lists of the help employed more carefully. The number under 16 years who have applied at the court house for permission to work, during the last few days has kept the court busy. A number of orders are signed each day but usually more than half of the applicants are refused permission as the circumstances seem to justify.

We desire to express our heartfelt thanks to those who so kindly remembered us in our late bereavement. Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Lowry.

BAND SENDS FOR UNION CHARTER

It Will Now Be Able to Play in Labor Day Celebrations.

The Imperial band has arranged to become a union organization and has applied for a charter, so henceforth the labor men of Janesville can have union music for their celebrations. An effort to accomplish the unionizing of the band has been under way for some time, but the financial question appeared to retard the consummation of the change. This difficulty has now been overcome. The two orchestras in the city have belonged to unions for some time as they have joined forces with the Beloit and Rockford organizations.

BUSINESS CONTINUED

Mrs. F. A. Bennett Taking Orders for Granite Work.

The granite business established by the late F. A. Bennett in 1873 will still be continued by Mrs. F. A. Bennett. A fine grade of foreign and American granites will be sold at the lowest figure possible for first class work and stock. Competent workmen only are employed and the same guarantee for high class work of the past is still in force. Among some of the large new work now in process and recently finished are handsome monuments of Barre granite for James Harris, J. B. Thayer, David Meyers and a unique design in this same material for the Hatch Est. Quincy granite sarcophagus for S. D. Conant and Geo. Scarelliff. Many other orders are on hand also. New designs and illustrations showing late ideas for monuments in granite work are shown by Mrs. Bennett.

GENERAL MARKET FOR HOUSEWIVES

GRAPES PROVE POPULAR, AND MANY ARE SOLD.

PRICES ARE NOT TOO HIGH

Squashes, Cauliflowers and Many Other Fruits Are To Be Found in the Market.

Peaches 25¢ bushel
Pears 35¢ 50¢ peck
Plums 40¢ 50¢ crate
Concord grapes 30¢ basket
Melanges and Tokays 12¢ 15¢ pound
Bananas 20¢ dozen
Oranges 40¢ dozen Lemons 30¢ dozen
Figs 15¢ pound
Apples 75¢ 1.75 bushel
Watermelons 10¢ 20¢ a piece
Muskmelons 50¢ dozen
Pumpkins 10¢ a piece
Egg plant 10¢ a piece
Tomatoes $1.25 bushel
Potatoes 90¢ bushel
Celery 40¢ dozen
Parsley 5¢ a bunch
Lettuce 5¢ head
Cabbage 10¢ 20¢ head
Cauliflower 10¢ 25¢ a piece
Squash 60¢ bushel
Onions $1.25 bushel
Ground cherries $2.00 bushel

This week's demand for peaches has been poor. The luscious Michigan fruit leads the local market, though the price is high. A few days more and the season will be over. It is certainly ending strong. The fruit is not altogether desirable but seed-green crawfords at $2.25 a bushel are bought.

Grapes Excellent
Grapes are of exceptional quality this fall. Michigan concord, eight pounds to the basket, sell at 30 cents. The Wolverine state is furnishing concord fully equal to the famous product of central New York which will appear in Janesville within a week. Square crates holding six pounds of California malagas and tokays sell readily at 50 cents and by the pound at a shilling.

Some Choice Vegetables
In the vegetable list squash, cauliflower and ground cherries form a trio of favorites. Hubbard and crook-necked squashes are strongly in evidence, at three cents a pound and 5 cents a piece, respectively. Cauliflower, that delight of the epicure, is of unusual quality. This fine vegetable is really selling at a low figure, considering the demand and its scarcity. It can be had for from 10 to 20 cents.

BELOIT ELKS ARE TO BE SUED SOON

The Claim Is Made That They Sell Liquor Without a License.

The Beloit Elks' club has rules which they say will let them conduct their buffet without a liquor license, but the common council will look in to the matter, and prosecutions may be begun against the club for violation of the license law, to determine whether or not they are liable for the $500 license.

ODD FELLOWS TO HOLD CONVENTION

October Thirteenth They Meet in Madison for Fifty-Sixth Annual.

The fifty-sixth annual session of the grand encampment of Odd Fellows will be held in Madison, beginning Tuesday, October 13, and continuing three days. Representatives from all the lodges in the state will be present and the cantons will attend in uniform. A feature of the encampment will be a competitive prize drill by the several cantons, which will take place on Monona avenue.

This will prove to be of much interest as there is sure to be a number present sufficiently large to make the drill worthy of notice. The encampment will be held in Turner hall and the Wisconsin State band has been engaged for the occasion.

John Franklin Willey
The funeral of the late John Franklin Willey will be held at the Oak Hill cemetery chapel at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Rev. Vaughan officiating.

Jessie M. Lowry

The funeral of the late Jessie M. Lowry was held Friday afternoon. There was a short service at the house, No. 5 Bennett street, after which the remains were taken to Center. Services were held at the Center church, Rev. M. Wells officiating. The pallbearers were Evan, Sherman, Andrew and Frank Lowry, brothers of the deceased. Interment was made at the Center cemetery.

Abolishes Slave Trade.
The great slave trade at Kano, the metropolis of Nigeria, Africa, having 100,000 inhabitants, which averaged 500 men and women sold each day, has been abolished by the British, who have extended their authority over it. Three provinces on the Niger were seized because the native chiefs refused to surrender the murderers of a British officer.

No Martyr Tablets.
The New York board of education has rejected a plan to place tablets in public schools in memory of the murdered presidents. It was argued that it would be bad policy to impress upon the youthful mind the violent deaths of Presidents Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley.

TO RE-ARRANGE RURAL ROUTES

T. A. Kittredge, Special Agent of the Postal Department, at Work in This City.

T. A. Kittredge, special agent of the postoffice department, is in Janesville and is busily engaged on his plans for new rural delivery service routes and changes in the ones now in operation. Mr. Kittredge refused to be interviewed in regard to the probable changes as his recommendations must be acted on at Washington before they are finally adopted.

Twenty-one Routes
There are now twenty-one routes in Rock county. The large holdings of the average farmer, amounting in many cases to hundreds of acres, make the rural route problem a difficult one. Every route must, by law, include at least twenty-five homes and there are, of course, natural limitations, such as the character of the roads, on the length of these routes.

Unsatisfactory Situation
There are a number of people living on the outskirts of Janesville who have the benefit of neither the city delivery or the rural service. It is probable that the new arrangement will provide for all of these living outside of the corporate limits.

OLD VETERANS WILL CELEBRATE

LOCAL POST PLANS BIG TIME THIS MONTH.

A COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED

The Opera House Has Been Engaged for the Occasion, and Date Is Fixed.

All the old boys who wear the G. A. R. buttons are all counting on a grand reunion the 21st of October, it being the twenty-first anniversary of this post. The meeting will be held at the Myers Grand opera house, commencing at a quarter of eight, and consist of music, singing, speeches, tableaux, etc. They want the public to enjoy it with them, and extend a general invitation to every one to come and hear some of the stories of the war. The G. A. R. post of Beloit will come in good numbers, and many Grand Army men will be present. To the young people it will be attractive, for they will get a history lesson easily remembered.

Chose Committees
Last evening the following committees were appointed, and every effort will be made to give an entertainment that will be appreciated by all who attend.

General Committee
C. D. Childs, J. L. Bear, E. G. Harlow, E. O. Kimberley, E. B. Helms, W. J. McIntyre, Robert Scott, L. H. Lee, Elias Heller, J. F. Carle, M. Halverson, H. A. Carroll.

Master of ceremonies—S. C. Cobb, E. B. Helms, secretary; C. D. Child, treasurer.

E. G. Harlow, committee on speakers.
J. L. Bear, committee on singers.
E. O. Kimberley, committee on elocution.

L. H. Lee, committee on martial music.
Committee on Program
R. W. Scott, E. O. Kimberley, M. Halverson, R. A. Carroll.

Reception Committee
W. J. McIntyre, E. B. Helms, Elias Heller.

Decorating Committee
L. H. Lee, R. W. Scott, R. A. Carroll.

Kindly Feeling
The old soldiers of the city appreciate the kindly feeling every one has toward those who are left of the Grand Army, and some of the best talent has already been offered for that evening.

Mr. Peter Myers also started the ball rolling by donating ten dollars toward the expenses of that day.

Knights of Columbus: Members of the Knights of Columbus who intend to go to Rockford, Sunday, October 4th, to be present during the exemplification of the degree work, are asked to secure badges Sunday morning of E. H. Connell at his store. Members may go on any of the regular cars, he can returning will leave Rockford at eleven o'clock.

BARTLETT PEARS ARE ALL GONE

The Duchess is a Good Substitute for the Thrifty Housewife to Buy.

Many of the housewives have been bemoaning the fact during the last few days that the Bartlett pear season had come and passed and they did not know it, and are wondering how they are going to make up for them in the winter supply of preserves. The season of Bartletts was short and at no time was there any great supply of them. A substitute for them has made its appearance on the market in the shape of the Duchess and Kiefer pears. They are almost as fine an article as the Bartletts, but as a fruit are very good. They will have several days of marketing yet and are being sold at 40 and 50 cents per peck.

A... Show of Silver

No jewelry store in Janesville has ever made a display of silver surpassing that now being made in our establishment. In our show cases is now to be seen the most handsome and artistic pieces in silver and bluetone plated ware that has ever been shown before. Silver has for more than a century been in favor for wedding gifts. A plain teaspoon etched in the days of our great grandmother, but now that silver is more plentiful, and our prices bring it within the reach of all, the demand is for larger pieces.

CANE RUSH WILL PROVE FATAL

One Tulane Student Will Die and Another Is Seriously Hurt.
New Orleans, La., Oct. 3.—In the annual cane rush between the freshman and sophomore classes at the opening of Tulane university the attack became a desperate one and several men were injured, one fatally and a second seriously. Loehner Landau, aged 16 years, son of Bernard Landau, partner in the firm of S. J. Catz & Co., lies in his home with his skull crushed and will die. Until this year the freshman-sophomore cane rush at Tulane has been a harmless affair, full of good humor and never of a desperate character. This year the freshman class was of unusual size and the youngsters decided to teach the sophs a lesson.

ALLEGED JURORS SOUGHT BRIBE

Two Jurymen in Bloomington Case Are Arrested by Court's Order.
Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 3.—A sensation was created here by the arrest of two jurymen who had been hearing the evidence in a suit for $6,000 growing out of Chicago board of trade transactions. Oscar Greene and John Tjardes, a broker of Saybrook, claiming that his sons had lost the amount in dealing with the Saybrook firm. William O'Neill of Bloomington and W. A. Booth of Glenview, who were drawn on the jury, are alleged to have approached the lawyers for the defense, soliciting bribe money. The lawyers notified Judge C. D. Myers, and after a rigid examination of the two men he directed their arrest.

ITALIANS LOWER THEIR FLAG

Police Chief of Tamaqua, Pa., Is Forced to Protect Camp.
Tamaqua, Pa., Oct. 3.—About two weeks ago a gang of foreign workmen who have a camp near West Penna, a farming village, raised an Italian flag over their quarters. The farmers became indignant and demanded that the flag be lowered. The Italians refusing to comply, Chief of Police Hahn went to the camp and ordered the flag lowered, which was done under protest. The Italian consul at Philadelphia wrote to Chief Hahn asking him for full information regarding the matter. Hahn replied, stating that he ordered the flag taken down because the farmers had threatened to wreck the camp otherwise.

SEEK SOLAR SYSTEM SECRET

Astronomers to Take Careful Observations From Chilean Altitude.
Santiago de Chile, Oct. 3.—An astronomical expedition organized by D. O. Mills is installed on a hill 1,000 feet high close to Santiago. The mission of the expedition, the observations of which are conducted by University of California astronomers, is to throw additional light on the motion of the solar system through space. The principal object in coming here is to ascertain the velocity of the brighter stars of the southern hemisphere. The spectroscopic photographs obtained will be sent to the Lick observatory for measurement and comparison with previous calculations.

WATER IS FREE TO THE TRUST

Big Sugar Company Owes New York $525,000 or More.
New York, Oct. 3.—An investigation conducted by officials of the department of water supply, gas and electricity for the borough of Brooklyn shows that for six years at least the American Sugar Refining Company, better known as the sugar trust, has been using daily in the neighborhood of 2,000,000 gallons of water for which it has not paid the city one cent. The officers of the sugar trust are not prepared at this time to give a satisfactory explanation. A long legal fight no doubt will be the result of the attempt of the city to collect.

CURES CATARRH

"Hyomel the Most Wonderful Cure for Catarrh Ever Discovered," Says Peoples Drug Co. and King's Pharmacy.
Do not try to cure catarrh by taking drugs into the stomach; it cannot be cured in that manner. The only way in which this too common disease can be cured is through a direct application that will kill the bacilli of catarrh and prevent their growth.
Hyomel is the only known method of treatment that accomplishes this. It is the simplest, most pleasant, and the only absolute cure for catarrh that has ever been discovered. Thousands of unsolicited testimonials have been received from the most prominent men and women in the country who have been cured by this remarkable remedy. Ministers, bankers, lawyers, even eminent physicians have given strong testimonials as to the remarkable powers of Hyomel to cure catarrh.
The complete Hyomel outfit costs but $1.00, consisting of an inhaler, dropper and sufficient Hyomel to last several weeks. This will effect a cure in ordinary cases, but for chronic and despondent cases of catarrh, longer use may be necessary, and then extra bottles of Hyomel can be obtained for 50 c. It is not alone the best (it might be called the only) method of curing catarrh, but it is also the most economical. King's Pharmacy and Peoples Drug Co. have so much confidence in the power of Hyomel to cure catarrh, that they will for a limited time, sell this medicine under their personal guarantee to refund the money if the purchasers can say that it did not help them.
Lord Milner Declines.
London, Oct. 3.—Premier Balfour has announced that Lord Milner had declined the post of colonial secretary.

CURED WHEN OTHERS FAILED

1056 Winnemac Avenue,
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 25, 1902.

Wine of Cardui can always be relied upon to cure when everything else fails. It is a certain cure for female diseases in their worst forms. I suffered for years with ulceration, intense pains in the womb and ovaries and dreadful headaches afflicted me for my work. Finally I grew so ill that I had to keep to my bed. The pains were so intense at times as to cause spasms and a disagreeable discharge drained my life forces. In my extremity after all else had failed, I tried Wine of Cardui. After using it for two weeks I began to improve so rapidly that I felt encouraged to keep up the treatment, which I did for eighteen weeks, but at the end of that time I was entirely cured. What a relief was mine and how new and beautiful life looked to me when my health was restored. Only those who have passed through such a siege of sickness as I have will understand how much I value Wine of Cardui. It is indeed a boon to sick women.

Frances Mitchell

Secretary, North Chicago Frauen Verein.

Every weak woman needs Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui cures disordered and painful menstruation, periodical headaches, falling of the womb and leucorrhoea. It cures extreme cases of these troubles. It strengthens girls approaching womanhood, helps bring children to barren homes, makes pregnancy and childbirth easier, prevents miscarriages and is the best medicine ever made for use during the change of life. Why permit the good women in your home to suffer another day? Every druggist has 50c bottles of Wine of Cardui.

RAGTIME PHILOSOPHY.

Dentists might be properly classed as root doctors.

Moral suasion is all right if it has the proper backing.

A blockhead is a man who is unable to fit his opinions to your channel.

No woman would care to be an invalid if she couldn't air her ailments.

Nearly every time a fool makes a kick some wise man gets the benefit of it.

If beauty is only skin deep that may explain why so many pretty girls are shallow.

Some wives consider marriage a successful failure if the matrimony is satisfactory.

Where there's a will there's a way—but in the majority of cases it is not the way you will.

The right kind of a girl doesn't find it necessary to give the right kind of young man any encouragement.

When a man attempts to kiss a girl she usually threatens to call for help, but the young man doesn't need any help.

NATURAL HISTORY STUNTS.

The pig cannot travel as fast as the greyhound, though it covers more ground.

The centipede is not so long as the alligator, though it beats it by over 100 many feet.

The bee is like unto the conversation of some humans—honey and a sting at the end.

The Central Life Has Made a Record!

in business which places it at the head of the list of the most successful companies. The past eight years have proved the strength of the company and given it a standing to be desired by many older companies.

Among the special features which policy holders should remember and appreciate are the low mortality rate and the large accumulation of assets for policy holders.

The policies issued by the Central Life contain many advantages for policy holders not found in other policies.

The company established its state office in Janesville only a few months ago, with JOHN H. NICHOLSON, as State Manager, and at this early date the state is well organized with a strong force and many of our leading citizens are policy holders in the company.

The Central Life is recognized as one of the best companies in the country. Mr. Nicholson is to be congratulated for bringing this excellent company into the state; also for the great success so early achieved.
